The court addresses NCR's motion in limine. The parties give their responses. The court denies the motion. The court will address keeping the record open at a later time to avoid prejudice.

Counsel addresses the court regarding arrangers issues, cost issues and insurance issues that they expect to bring up at trial. They also discuss exhibits and they indicate that there are 261 exhibits that they do not agree upon, therefore there will be objections of authenticity and hearsay.

The parties also discuss sealing the courtroom or testimony for certain parts of the trial. The court indicated that there is good cause in maintaining confidentiality with regard to settlements and therefore something will be worked out during trial to keep those matters sealed.

Counsel did go over housekeeping matters.
